INTRODUCTION

I have great pleasure in presenting to the students of Oriental Learnings, this Second Volume of Descriptive Catalogue of Sanskrit Manuscripts in possession of Vaidika Saṁśodhana Maṇḍala.

The first volume of this project, published in 1974 comprised of the description of the manuscripts related to Vedas and Vedāṅgas, including Śrauta-sūtras with the commentaries thereon, while this second volume consists of, as indicated in the Introduction of the preceding one, the entries of the manuscripts related to Śrauta-prayogas only. The manuscripts on Smārta prayogas will be described in the next part.

Even the cursory look upon the arrangement of the contents of this volume may make it clear that, every care has been taken in sifting and distinguishing the available manuscripts on Śrauta-prayogas and every effort has been made to scientifically classifying the titles

The entries of the Śrauta-prayogas in this volume, cover the Nibandhas on Śrauta-practices ; the Vedic rituals of Havis Sacrifices, Misc. Iṣṭis, Piṇḍapitṛyajña, Antyeṣṭi, Soma-sacrifices, Ekāhas, Ahīnas, Agni-cayana, Kāṭhaka-cayana etc.; the preparation of various vihāras ; and the prescription of Prāyaścittas.

The classification of sacrifices into Pākayajñas, Haviryajñas and Somayajñas appears to have been first attested in Gopatha Brāhmaṇa[1]. Later Sūtras generally agree to classify the Haviryajñas into seven sub-divisions, but they differ in details regarding the inclusion of Pākayajña (i.e. Piṇḍa-pitṛyajña), Paśubandha, Sautrāmaṇī, Dākṣāyaṇa and Kauṇḍapāyinyaḥ.[2] In such state of divergence, I have adhered to the list and order of Haviryajñas adopted in our Śrautakośa (Sanskrit Section Vol. I).

१. सायंप्रातर्होमो स्थालीपाको नवश्च यः । बलिश्च पितृयज्ञश्चाष्टका सप्तमः पशुः । इत्येते पाकयज्ञाः । अग्न्याधेयमग्निहोत्रं पौर्णमास्यमावस्ये । नवेष्टिश्चातुर्मास्यानि पशुबन्धोऽत्र सप्तमः । इत्येते हविर्यज्ञाः । अग्निष्टोमोऽत्यग्निष्टोमः उक्थ्यः षोडशिमांस्ततः । वाजपेयोऽतिरात्रश्चाप्तोर्यामोऽत्र सप्तमः । इत्येते सुत्याः । (गोपथब्राह्मण १.५.२३) ।

२. अग्न्याधेयमग्निहोत्रं दर्शपूर्णमासौ आग्रयणं चातुर्मास्यानि निरूढपशुबन्धः सौत्रामणीति सप्त हविर्यज्ञसंस्थाः (गौतमधर्मसूत्र १. ८. २०); तासां हविर्यज्ञसंस्थानामग्न्याधेयमग्निहोत्रं दर्शपूर्णमासौ चातुर्मास्यानि पशुबन्धः सौत्रामणी पाकयज्ञ इति (लाट्यायनश्रौतसूत्र ५. ४. २३); अथ हविर्यज्ञसंस्थाः । अग्न्याधेयमग्निहोत्रं दर्शपूर्णमासावाग्रयणं चातुर्मास्यानि दाक्षायणयज्ञ; कौण्डपायिन्यः इति । सौत्रामणिमु हैके ब्रुवते । (बौधायनश्रौतसूत्र २४.४) ।

Piṇḍapitṛyajña being related to Darśeṣṭi is placed immediately after Darśapūrṇamāsa. But (Mahā)-pitṛ-yajña, forming an appendix to Sākamedha is captioned under Cāturmāsya. The manuscripts dealing with the Antyeṣṭi of a Sacrificer keeping Śrauta Fires, only have been entered in Pitṛmedha-section.

The manuscripts on Kāmyeṣṭis and on stray Iṣṭis auxiliary to other major rituals are dealt with, under Misc. Iṣṭis.

Mahāvrata forms a part of Gavāmayana-sattra.[1] But a rite of that name is included under Ekāhas[2] also. This Ekāha-mahāvrata is also known as Sarvajid-agniṣṭoma[3]; and as far as audgātra is concerned it differs from Sāṁvatsarika-mahāvrata in the chanting of few Sāmans. In this volume, the manuscripts on Mahāvrata are concerned with Ekāha-mahāvrata only.

Dvādaśāha is known in two forms, viz. Ahina and Sattra[4]. All the manuscripts on Dvādaśāha, entered in this volume exclusively deal with Ahina-dvādaśāha, excepting only one (Sr. No. 1386) which partly deals with Sattra-dvādaśāha.

The manuscripts prescribing the preparations of altars for Darśapūrṇamāsa, Cāturmāsya, Soma, Paśu and Agnicayara etc., have been clustered together under the section of Vihāra. Similarly the manuscripts on expiations related to various Śrauta-rites have been compiled together and placed under the Prāyaścitta-section. Thus, the Vihāras and the Prāyaścittas have received independent treatment in this volume.

While classifying the manuscripts, the fact, that the Śrauta-rituals are naturally related to various officiating Ṛtviks, has been fully considered. A definite and very scientific order of Ṛtviks has, therefore, been accepted and consistently followed through out this volume. It should here be specially noted that the term ' prayoga ', if not prefixed with the name of any of the Ṛtviks, means ' Adhvaryu-prayoga '.

In this Volume also, I have tried to keep up the standard, laid down, for the Manuscript Catalogue, by the Central Education Ministry. I have tried to present in the eleventh column, all important details of manuscripts including their alternate titles, contents, sources, sub-topics, additional topics and also their special features. The parities or disparities between the manuscripts of similar titles have also been occassionally pointed out.

The extracts from the openings or colophons of the manuscripts inserted in the eleventh column or in appendix, may carry even historical significance. The indices of the titles, alternate titles, authors, commentators and scribes may enhance the utility of the volume.

It is again gratifying to note that the collection of Śrauta manuscripts revealed by this volume is certainly unique in many respects. It covers varied topics which range from Ādhāna to Ahīna. Each topic is further enriched with the prayogas related to all expected Ṛtviks. The collection possesses the Śrauta-prayogas composed by a number of celebrated as well as hitherto unknown authors. Thus e. g. the Ādhāna-prayogas composed by 13 different authors, the Cāturmāsya prayogas from the pen of 14 authors, the Agniṣṭoma and Darśa-pūrṇamāsa prayogas, each written by 10 authors have been enlisted in this volume. Some of such manuscripts are no doubt rare and very valuable.

From the Indices, it may be inferred that, more than three hundred works on Śrauta-prayogas have been enlisted and about one hundred authors have contributed to this important branch of Vedic - Learning. Unfortunately the panoramic survey of Śrauta-prayogas and the consistent history of the authors of Śrauta-prayogas is totally wanting.

While concluding, I express my grateful and sincere thanks to all the generous donors of the manuscripts. The credit of richness of our Manuscripts-Library entirely goes to them.

I also express, with great pleasure, my deep sense of gratitude towards the Government of India, Ministry of Education, for the kind grant-in-aid towards the publication of this project.

Shriman M. S. alias Baburavaji Parkhe, the esteemed well-wisher and Honourable Treasurer of the Maṇḍala, kindly made available the adquate quantity of quality paper, for this volume and I feel highly obliged for his meritorious and timely help.

I also take this opportunity to express my gratitude towards the propreitors of the Veda Vidyā Mudraṇālaya, who, with their usual care and patience, tried to maintain their renowned standard, in the printing of this Volume also.

APPENDIX

Extracts from Important Manuscripts

[The openings and colophons from many extra-ordinary manuscripts have already been included in the eleventh column provided for additional particulars of manuscripts. This appendix, therefore, contains the extracts from few other important manuscripts, which could not be described in the eleventh column, for want of adequate space.]
